

CLEARING HOUSE

By THE EDITOR

Those students who don't attend some of the many meetings being held this week in connection with the Religion-in-Life conference will have only themselves to blame. These speakers do not offer mere platitudes. They are intellectually alive; they're interesting; they're experienced; they make you think. Reverend Clausen's speech today in Memorial hall should be one of the best of the year.

Talk-Fast

"Dear Editor: I protest! If Suzy Coed has nothing else to do but tell Mamma all about it, I wish she'd go home to do her narrating instead of gabbing over the 'student' phone in the YW-YM room. I've waited as long as twenty minutes for one dumb dame to get through with a very unnecessary talk with someone. It was grand of the YW-YM to place the phone there for our convenience and I insist that we should show our appreciation in co-operating with the other students on the campus. Three minutes should be the extent of any conversation on a public phone."—S

And More, Too

S. has hit the proverbial nail where it should be hit. That might also apply to the Pitt and Boyd hall phones. Although each hall now has an extra phone, either the conversations are lengthening or more coeds are becoming telephone conscious, because it still is next to impossible to get anything other than a short answer from the operator.

Nerve Or Stupidity?

The first paragraph of the following letter is printed in an editorial on page two: "On page 3 in the carry-over of John Ed Pearce's new column, there was a reference to Walter Winchell's suggestion that the late Pope Pius XI be named for the Nobel Peace award, in which Pearce defames His Holiness's memory by classing him with Hitler and the Premier of Japan, and by implying that he was a war monger, as are these other two men. If Pearce has read a paper during the last week or two, he would have ample proof that the name 'The Pope of Peace,' which is perhaps the most widely used reference to the late pontiff, has been used advisedly by the thousands of newspapers, both here and abroad. How Pearce has the nerve, or should I say the stupidity, to write such a paragraph in an otherwise passable column is beyond me."—An Alumnus.

West Virginia Decision

This letter is a little late but expresses the opinion of a majority of students who saw the recent fights. It was received Friday morning when the paper came out with the write-up of the fights. "It will be quite interesting to read Friday's Kernel just to see what Joe Creason has to say about the boxing matches last night. I hope that for his own and the paper's sake, he does not try to cover what was to all present a very raw deal to West Virginia. Everyone I have seen believe that only very rank judging kept them from ending in a draw. It is a shame that such poor judging ruined an otherwise good fight. More power to your paper."—A Reader.

S. Hawkins Question

Dear Sir: Will you please try to clarify this Sadie Hawkins day business for me? I am interested in the day, think it is a good thing, but just don't understand. Is it necessary for a girl to actually tag the boys? Can't she call him up after she has bought a tag? Is it going to be a costume affair? It should be, you know, to get the most interest. Are there going to be enough girls "stags" to make the dance lively?—W. P.

Make It Costume

We will try to get the whole business straightened out by next issue, but we haven't been able to see a member of Keys, sponsors of the dance, since receiving your card. We agree with you that a costume dance is to be preferred.

Basketball Record

A former University student, Dave Dorrer, writes Joe Creason, asking that Kentucky's basketball record for the year be printed in a Tuesday's issue which goes out to all alumni. So we are including the "statement" in today's paper.

Now He's Happy

Here's another letter about John Ed. "I was pleased to see the reappearance of John Ed Pearce as a columnist in the Kernel, and I want to say that I think that his column 'Pick-Up' is one of the best in recent years to grace The Kernel's pages. It is interesting not only to those mentioned, but to the average reader, who know very little about the usual campus social strata. I wish that he would make a practice of his comments on recordings of the musical hits."—R. B.

Yea Byron!

Ann Oynomus sends in a poem which is too long to include here, but which is not so bad, and if we ever get around to that much-talked-about literary section, we would like to use the poem. The hobby column which was promised so faithfully for last Friday was forced out by news but will be in on Friday of this week. Also, those professorial quotes haven't been sent in. make this benefit game on Thursday night a big success. notice the editorial on thinking for yourselves and try it. and so to press at 10 o'clock.

Proceeds from the ticket sale to the ODK-sponsored fracas will go to the swimming team and the K club. Admission will be 10 cents for students and 25 cents for others. For the last two years the quintet representing the coaches has defeated the faculty five and hot revenge is planned by the Allen-coached cagers.

Gov. A. B. Chandler is expected to referee the tilt with John G. Heber, Henry Clay Bluedevil mentor as assistant.

Tickets are being sold by members of ODK, the swimming team and the K club, organization composed of athletes who have received major K's in football, basketball, or track. The first group of its kind on the campus, the club made its debut last spring.

Ease Marks Performance Of Artists

By FREDERICK KNAPP

The Women's Glee Club gave a program of well-chosen selections Sunday afternoon in Memorial hall. The program opened with the full 38 voices joined in a typical Bach chorus, "Commit Thy Ways Unto Him," and was followed by the contrasting "Beautiful Morn" of Edward German. The solemn Bach melody was well sung, with the youthful voices giving charm to the characteristic harmonies.

Included in the second part of the program were "Songs My Mother Taught Me," which was arranged for piano and voices by Miss Adele Gensemer, the accompanist, and a familiar encore and folk-song, "Down in the Valley."

Miss Gensemer presented two etudes by Bortkovicz as a third part of the program, and concluded her solo group with one of her own compositions played as an encore. She was applauded for her fine work, both as soloist and accompanist.

A typical Indian composition "Her Blanket" was outstanding in the fourth group, with Miss Grace Oliver rendering the flute accompaniment very effectively. Also in this group was a selection, which was singular for the humorous interlude it presented; it was entitled "Oh, Mother, A Hoop" and was written by English-Krone.

Several familiar selections made up the last group, among which were "The Slouch" by Kountz, and "Floods of Spring" by Rachmaninoff. The dashing Kountz number was resung for the benefit of an appreciative audience, and the program was closed with the tender "My Lindy Lou" sung as a final encore. This last was given an excellent rendering by the group, because of the feeling of sincerity which showed itself in the voices.

The singers and their director, Miss Mildred Lewis, are to be commended for their fine degree of preparation, which was evident in the ease with which they appeared.

BAKER TO SPEAK AT AG ASSEMBLY

Students Will Hear Economist At 8 A. M., Thursday, In Memorial Hall

Senior agricultural economist of the division of farm population and rural life, Dr. Oliver E. Baker will address an Agriculture college convocation 8 a. m. Thursday in Memorial hall. The farm population authority made several of agricultural lectures at the University last year.

Dr. Baker is the author of several books dealing with the agricultural phases of sociology, economics, and political science. He received his academic training at Yale, Columbia, University of Wisconsin, and Heidelberg college, Ohio, and has an honorary Doctor of Science degree from Goettingen university, Germany.

All seniors of the agricultural college, who are planning to graduate in June or August, 1939, or January, 1940, are required to attend this assembly, Dean Cooper has announced.

First-hour agricultural classes will be dismissed for the meeting, and students of other colleges will be excused for absence from classes, Dean Cooper said.

CHI DELTA PHI TO ELECT

All women students interested in creative writing may submit manuscripts to Chi Delta Phi, national honorary literary fraternity for women.

BULLETIN

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 20 (Kernel Special Service)—Led by the crack 300 yard medley-relay team that set a new Southeastern Conference mark by churning the distance in 2:21.6, Kentucky's "pool-less" swimming team rolled over Georgia Tech by a score of 43-32 here tonight. The win, fourth of the season for the undefeated Wildcats, concluded a successful southern tour of three wins including conference victories over Tennessee and Tech.

Governor Chandler has accepted the invitation to referee the Faculty-Coaches basketball game at 8 p. m. Thursday night in the Alumni Gym. Twenty-five members of the faculty squad are ready to battle seven members of the coaching staff. Ten men of the football squad will artistically interpret the "Dance of the Seven Veils" between halves of the game. The individual Cat stars will compete for a prize of a pair of shoes given by a downtown store. There is to be a tricycle race between the faculty.

Funds, 10 cents per person, from the ODK-sponsored program will go to the swimming team and the recently reorganized K club.

The faculty quintet is out for revenge for the two year defeat at the hands of the coach squad. Five separate teams have been named by the faculty while the coaches will have one team and two substitutes. Dr. Richard S. Allen, coach of the faculty, stated that he was teaching his squad a few trick plays that would bottle up Shively.

Five faculty teams are: Top team is the Intelligence squad, consisting of Hahn (physics) forward, May (engineering) forward, Asher (psychology) center, Warburton (physics) guard, and Hernandez (romance languages) guard.

Inoculation squad includes Saslaw (bacteriology) forward, Hannan (bacteriology) forward, Holbrook (bacteriology) center, Allen (bacteriology) guard, and Brueck (bacteriology) guard.

Electroquint quintet consists of Schroeder (physics) forward, Troutman (physics) forward, Pennington (physics) center, Smith (physics) guard, and Reithel (physics) guard.

On the Dissection squad are Mohney (anatomy and physiology) forward, Vanaman (geology) forward, Jayne (zoology) center, Korseguard (physical education) guard, and Kurachek (physical education) guard.

The Incineration squad consists of Miles (geology) forward, McFarlan (geology) forward, Newell (zoology) center, Nelson (geology) guard, and Karsner (physical education) guard.

Shively, Kirwan, Rupert, McBrayner, Huddleston, and Myers comprise the coaches squad, which will be coached by Adolph Rupp.

Kitten-Campbellsville Contest At 6:45 Will Precede Varsity Tilt

With six successive wins behind them, the Kentucky Wildcats, back in basketball prosperity, will make their semi-final stand of the year against the powerful Xavier Musketeers tonight in Alumni gym.

The Kentucky Kittens, winners in seven of eight starts, will take the floor against the Campbellsville Junior College Tigers in a preliminary scrap. In a previous meeting three weeks ago, the frosh caged the Tigers by a two point margin.

NOTE TIME CHANGES

Time changes for the freshman and varsity basketball games with Campbellsville Junior College and Xavier University tonight have been made to avoid conflict with the program of the Religion-in-Life conference. The freshman game will begin at 6:45 p. m., and the varsity tilt at 8:30 p. m. The musical vesper service held in connection with the religious conference will be at 7 p. m. in Memorial hall and the platform address will commence at 7:30 p. m.

Currently Kentucky rates high among the most improved teams of the nation. After an impressive start that rolled up four straight wins, the Cats began to miss fire and dropped four of the next five games. Then came a return to life and the present win spurt. From the position of 13th among the Southeastern Conference teams, in two weeks Kentucky has bounced into fourth place with four league wins against two losses.

Tonight Xavier will be out to avenge a 41-31 mauling from the Wildcats February 8 in Cincinnati. Jumping into an early 8-1 lead the Kentucky attack suddenly folded up like a house of cards and the Cats were barely able to weather a Musketeer rally in the closing minutes of the first half to lead at intermission by 17-14. Then, late in the final half, Kentucky's offense became hotter than a $2 cornet and, with Thompson and Curtis showering the hemp with points, pulled into a safe lead.

Veteran Muskie Team This years veteran Musketeer team is regarded as one of the strongest in Xavier history and at present is leading the fast Buckeye Conference. In the first bout against Kentucky, Coach Clem Crowe started an all-senior team but that combination was broken when Geselbracht, center, was lost through an operation for appendicitis. Tonight's game will probably find Crowe leading off with Neary and Carroll at the forwards, Howe at (Continued on Page Four)

MILITARY QUEEN ALREADY PICKED; WEEKS TO PLAY

Scabbard And Blade Pledges Will Be Tapped At Dance Saturday Night

BEGIN ADVANCE SALE OF TICKETS TO BALL

Nine Coeds Who Will Attend Her Majesty Also Secretly Named

Sponsor of Scabbard and Blades, already secretly chosen, will be crowned as Queen of the Military Ball Saturday night in the Ballroom of the Union. Anson Weeks has signed a contract to play for the Ball from 9 p. m. until midnight.

Pledges of Scabbard and Blades will be tapped into the organization by the Queen. The secretly chosen Queen, selected from ten candidates for the honor, will have the remaining nine girls as attendants.

Advance ticket sale began yesterday at the information desk of the Union and will continue until noon Saturday. The tickets are $1.50 per couple or stag but will be $2 at the door. Students from other schools in the state having ROTC units have been invited to attend the dance.

Decorations will consist of streamers and balloons with the Queen's throne at one end of the floor and the orchestra at the other.

Albert Moffett, captain of the fraternity, has invited Life photographers to attend the ceremonies.

Candidates, one chosen as Queen and the other nine as attendants, are: Virginia Batterson, Lexington, Kappa Delta; Glenda Burton, Somerset, Chi Omega; Mildred Kashi, Lexington, Alpha Gamma Delta; Evelyn Ewan, Lexington, Alpha Xi Delta; and Glen Edwards, Covington, Delta Delta Delta.

Rifles Attend Meet

Company C of the first Pershing Rifle regiment attended the Assembly held February 18 at the University of Cincinnati. Plans were made for the coming drill meet to be held May 12 at the University of Dayton, where all companies of the regiment will assemble for competition.

Universities participating in the meet will be Ohio State, Dayton, Akron, Cincinnati, Kentucky, and Michigan.

Irreligious Student Opinions Are Diminishing, Says Masih

By VINCENT CROWDUS

"Contrary to general opinion, irreligion is not prevalent among college students but they are approaching it more from a scientific point of view," declared Rev. Samuel Masih, Milasapur, India, only foreign-born leader here for the Religion-in-Life conference, in an interview yesterday afternoon.

Reverend Masih said that the apparent lack of religion among students is brought about through the religious training they bring to the campus from the home. In most cases this training is little; then the student becomes indifferent when placed on his own. However, the former member of the Indian government declares that "religiously there is great hope for the future generation. Students are starting to think about and to open discussions on religion," and one purpose of the University Christian Mission is "to make it logical and understandable to them."

As to the influence of Christianity in India, the Reverend Masih said that "the Christian influence is much greater than the population represents, economically, socially, and politically." India has one fifth of the world's population of which only 2 per cent is Christian.

"Education in India is intensive, whereas it is extensive in the United States," he pointed out. "Because here we study a variety of subject, but in India one pursues a definite field throughout his educational process."

Reverend Masih, dressed in his native garb of white muslin turban—70 yards long and 54 inches wide—narrow pajamas and sherwani (coat), expressed himself as being particularly interested in children's games. He was headmaster of the Boy's School in Bilaspur from 1923 to 1930. As a college student, he participated in field hockey, soccer, and track, being most prominent in the former two. He was a member of the field hockey team which won the All-India Gold Cup in 1928.

At present Reverend Masih is studying at Kennedy School of Missions, Hartford, Conn., this being his first visit to the United States. He is conducting a seminar on the "World Mission of Christianity" every afternoon this week at 4 o'clock in Room 205, Union building, and will appear on various other occasions during the conference.

Student Assembly Is Planned For 10 A. M. In Memorial Hall

PASTOR WILL DISCUSS "MASTERS OF ANGER"

Four More Evening Forums Billed For Religion Conference

Dr. Bernard C. Clausen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pittsburgh, will be the general convocation speaker at 10 a. m. today in Memorial hall. His address topic will be "Masters of Anger."

A radio-television enthusiast, Dr. Clausen's interest in radio dates back to its experimental days, when he began to send out special wireless religious services through an amateur station in Syracuse. He now broadcasts around the world twice a week from Station KDKA, Pittsburgh.

Books written by Dr. Clausen are "Pilgrim's Progress in Paganism," "Tested Programs for Special Days," "Preach It Again" and "Pen Portraits of the Twelve."

Four Night Addresses

Four more evening platform addresses are scheduled for the Conference in Memorial hall. Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton will speak on "Religion and Social Reconstruction" at 8 p. m. tonight. "The World Mission of Christianity" will be the subject of Mr. Samuel M. Masih of Bilaspur, India, Wednesday night. Thursday night Mr. Harry N. Holmes, field secretary of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, is to speak on "Is the Universe Friendly?" The final evening platform address will be given Friday night by Dr. Harry N. Gorton, pastor of the Broad Street Presbyterian church, Columbus, O. His subject is "The Lure of the Christian Life."

Students may make appointments for personal interviews after any of the meetings or in the office of the YM and YW.

90 More Meetings

Eighty meetings have already been held and approximately 90 more remain on the program. These include fireside forums, classroom discussions, radio programs, personal interviews, seminars, and faculty luncheons.

Dr. Daniel W. Morehouse, scientist and president of Drake university, Des Moines, Iowa, spoke on "What Can We Believe in an Age of Science" at the first evening platform address Sunday in Memorial hall. All chairmen of the different committees of the Conference were introduced at the meeting. President McVey presided.

Monday night Rabbi James G. Heller, Cincinnati, spoke on "My Responsibility in World Affairs" at the musical vesper service in Memorial hall.

Dedication Rites

Amid candles and mixed flowers the dedication service of the Religion-in-Life Conference was held Sunday in the Music room of the Union for the lecturers and Conference leaders.

Dr. Jesse M. Bader, national director of the University Christian Mission, delivering the message, said, "The attitude toward world affairs has changed in the last 15 years." He went on to say that the students are interested in three things now: 1. better student government, 2. world peace, and 3. religion.

These inter-denominational, inter-racial, and student and faculty fellowship conferences, 24 already held on other camp and eight more scheduled before Easter, are to give the student a religious program to go with the academic side of the Universities.

Boyd And Blanding Chosen To Speak At Cleveland Meet

Dr. Paul P. Boyd, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and Dean of Women Sarah Blanding will go to Cleveland, Ohio, to address the annual meeting of the American Council of Guidance and Personnel Associations, which will be in session February 22-23.

Chosen as a speaker from the country at large, Dean Boyd will give an address Thursday on "Recent Studies in the Selection of Students for Colleges of Liberal Arts" before the American College Personnel Association, one of the eight committees composing the Council.

Dean Blanding, also chosen from the country at large to address the meeting, will speak later in the week before the deans of women's meetings.

Other faculty members attending the conference include: Dean Oppenheimer and Lysie W. Croft, student counselor, Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, assistant dean of women, Miss Jeanette Scudder, director of residence halls for women, Dr. Henry Beaumont of the psychology department, and Miss Jean Abel, student.

A Fortress Of Independent Thought

Franklin D. Roosevelt recently told a youth group to use the American campus as a fortress of democracy. Dr. Daniel W. Morehouse, president of Drake university, speaking at Memorial hall Sunday night, said that, above all things, we must fear and guard against indifference. Dr. Henry Sigerist, writing on "Science and Democracy," makes this statement: "A body of generally accepted knowledge, simplified and carefully digested, is transmitted to the student who accepts it as a matter of course." The Texas Christian university paper carried this paragraph: "The thing to remember is, democracy dies at the bottom, not at the top. Pressure from outside is not one-tenth as dangerous as decay from within." The student is probably saying, "Well, tomorrow's another George Washington birthday."

Does this add up to anything? Don't we feel any stirring of desire to know "what" and "why?"

For instance, what is democracy? Do we actually have a true democracy in this country? Is it working for the best interests of the people?

Why do you hate the dictator countries, or do you?

Did you believe in lifting the embargo on loyalist Spain? What about the sale of munitions and raw materials to Japan?

Do you think it necessary to "arm to the teeth" to insure peace? Do you believe that America can get along without becoming involved in foreign affairs?

Are you for capital or labor? Do you have any reason for that stand?

Do you believe all of the propaganda, foreign and local, which is printed in the papers of today?

Do you believe everything your professors tell you? If you know "what is democracy," do you think it is being abused in America today? In Kentucky? On this campus?

Most of us have a hazy idea that democracy is good. And we are interested in seeing democracy flourish where education is most active. That is why we, also, like to call the campus a "fortress of democracy." But before the campus can be any kind of fortress, students must show that they can think for themselves, that they can take the propaganda, the sometimes biased lectures, and the other sources of information, and interpret for themselves.

So on tomorrow, Washington's 207 birthday, let us dedicate the campus as a fortress of Independent Thought. And if, by thinking for ourselves, we find that democracy is best, let us encourage it to the utmost. But whether the result of this thinking is democracy or a new ideology, we can't go very far wrong. Because we will be avoiding that greatest of dangers—call it what you will—indifference, apathy, or mental decay.

You Don't "Resort" To Clearing House

It seems about time to say something concerning Clearing House, the column which was put on trial to see if it would work. So far, it has served its purpose much better than was expected, but evidently there is a certain haziness in some minds as to that purpose.

The following paragraph is taken from a letter received yesterday: "During my years at the University, I never found it necessary to write a letter to THE KERNEL, nor did I take advantage of Clearing House last semester when I was in school. However, there was a paragraph in last Tuesday's KERNEL which I can not help but protest against."

We're not objecting to the "protest," which is found in today's column, but to the idea that the column is merely for these protests. We don't like the idea that one should "resort to" Clearing House. It is for observations, for constructive criticism of the campus and those organizations connected with the campus, for comments on anything and everything which the individual thinks should be commented upon. In other words, it is a sort of glorified editorial column, but instead of one person expressing his individual thoughts, every student on the campus is given that chance.

We would like to feel that the column is not merely for "cranks" and the self-styled "martyrs."

One Way To Back The Team

Although there are only two home basketball games remaining on the Wildcat schedule, it is not too late to put in a plea that students refrain from smoking in the gym.

At every game held in the gym this season, there has been a special request from the coaches of both teams and from the players themselves that the spectators do not smoke—but each time the request has been partially disregarded.

There is more to supporting a good basketball team than just yelling and cheering when a basket is made. The team can not feel very enthused over our pep if we actually retard the play by disregarding the rules of comfort and good sportsmanship. There are our own team members to consider and also those of the visiting team. These visitors can not be very favorably impressed by a smoke-filled gym. The spectators are also discomforted—especially those who sit at the top of the bleachers. In their case, it becomes a matter of smoking in self-defense.

Let's support the team in actions as well as in words. Observance of the no-smoking rule would be an excellent way of giving a silent vote of thanks for the fine games which we have enjoyed this year.—N. O.

Scrap Irony

By HARRY WILLIAMS

It seems almost too much that on top of everything else this year we have to do honor to George Washington. It's the wrong year, if the right general, and the administration of the first President obviously holds little that would lend to the present situation. February is that kind of month though. It keeps reminding us of things past, it beseeches us to celebrate, it has no remedy for a hang-over, and it has only twenty-eight days. Altogether, a thoroughly impotent month forced upon us by an inscrutable Fate. And, as if it weren't enough just to have February, we are blithely asked to celebrate intermittently! Really it's a bit too much. We don't like it, we don't like it at all.

The U. S. Department of Entomological Statistics has conjured up another survey. Insects, they say, are fast multiplying and will, by a sort of "coup d'etat" take over the planet in 4239 A. D. This may be what is meant by "The meek shall inherit the earth," they tell us. In view of the present international crisis, however, we suspect that their heritage may well be only "scorched earth" littered with howitzers, and let's see them eat howitzers!

Nothing disturbs us so much as to see a large lady fall down in the street. Somehow when a man falls down it doesn't seem so disastrous, just sort of comic. But when a woman falls we get the same feeling we get when a horse falls. We cry, "She's down," and rush forth to sit on her head while they unharness her.

ASSORTED REACTIONS TO "HE WHO GETS SLAPPED."

Martha Hume—"A difficult play, I was unable to understand it precisely."

Sylvia Skaller—"A simple play really. I was able to see right through it."

George Kerler—"An act must have been lost somewhere during rehearsals."

An unidentified young lady walked into the foyer, called a taxi and fainted.

An unidentified young man walked into the foyer, called a taxi and took a drink.

Lucille Thornton—"Catherine Taylor carries the play."

THE LEXINGTON HERALD—"Excellent directed."

THE LEXINGTON LEADER—"Directed excellently."

Don Irvine—"It is regrettable that more of the action did not occur off stage."

Campus exatation Bennie Ree Crabb says, of Political Science's Shannon, "I just close my eyes and listen to him talk." Perhaps Miss Crabb should wear blinkers.

There is something wistful about Robin Sweeney. Impeccably dressed, he goes about his daily business with an air of sublime detachment, bowing to ladies, chatting with gentlemen and dismissing all others, whom he calls "peasants," with a curt nod. You can see him almost any morning striding across the campus, his English tweeds concealed by a Cashmere muffler and a Bond street top-coat. An insubstantial Bourbon, he will have no truck with ideologies concerning the "peasants," threatens to disembowel them with a bayonet when the time comes. "Shooting is too good for people like that," he says.

By JIM CALDWELL

So accustomed have I become to hearing that the youth of America has purchased a one-way ticket to dogdom, it was with pleasantly burning ears that I recently heard someone say that this is the finest generation of young people that this country has ever produced. Making this opinion even more reassuring was the fact that it was uttered by a minister. The speaker was Dr. Jesse M. Bader, National Director of the University Christian Mission, which this week is holding some 150-odd student conferences on this and the Transylvania campuses.

Dr. Bader based this statement on the belief that we today possess health, intelligence, alertness, and the scientific attitude in quantities unknown to our predecessors.

Nothing To Live For?

Dr. Bader comes, however, when Dr. Bader states that we lack one thing which is capable of leaving us floundering in a sea of uncertainty—namely, the lack of a cause. He attributed the success of Italy and Germany to the fact that the youth of those countries possessed a cause to live for—or die for. Should the occasion demand it.

To bring about this cause is the purpose of the Conferences, and incidents were cited to illustrate their success. Most impressive was the story of a blind girl studying at the University of Nebraska. She was impressed by the meetings held on that campus, and when the speakers left, she asked to be allowed to accompany one of them when he returned to his school for the blind in India and learn to teach her fellow-afflicted.

Another interesting story concerns an engineering student in the same school who, after the conferences, asked to be taken by the same man to serve in an engineering capacity in frontier India.

Not Asked Of Everyone

These incidents, though very noble for those concerned, are not, stated the speaker, to be construed as examples of the sole meaning of the Religion-in-Life meetings.

They simply are meant to be taken as attempts to answer student questions about such things as the meaning of life and the desirability of religion.

Dr. Bader voiced his opinion that this mission is made easier by the fact that students today are asking searching questions about the meaning of life and other factors approaching the philosophical aspects of religion.

To him, students appear to be far less sophisticated and blasé than they were ten or fifteen years ago.

Financing The Conferences

When questioned as to the financing of the meetings, Dr. Bader replied that he was glad to say that students were under absolutely no obligations. The Conferences are supported by contributions of individuals, churches and foundations over the country-at-large, and by local committees on each campus. The former average is about $1,000 per week; the latter, $332.

And so, judging from statements made by the head of these conferences, youth is definitely on the upgrade. All it lacks is a tangible goal in life, and this the Conferences will endeavor to furnish. Whether or not they succeed in this mission depends entirely upon the interest and support of the student body.

UK Gets Specimen Of Aged Meteorite

A specimen of the century-old Smithland meteorite discovered in Livingston county has been acquired by the geology museum, David M. Young, instructor in the department of geology, said yesterday.

The meteorite is of the nickel-iron variety and its discovery created much excitement 100 years ago as its finders thought they had found

Pick-Up

By John Ed Pearce

Two palpitating hearts were merged into the proverbial one last Saturday, when the fortunes of Miss Emmy Haggin of Lexington, and Mr. Douglas Parrish were put into a joint account. The gold-plated couple will make their home in Paris, where they will settle down to a hard life of clipping coupons, and fighting off week-end guests. Mr. Parrish, it will be recalled, was once a cinder path luminary for UK.

Jane Bayham, a Lexington cutie of the sweet young thing type, is at present wearing the gold football of Muscles Hinkbein, who recently fractured, or had fractured, his weld with Irene Sparks. By this move, Jane undoubtedly caused many weepy moments for Carol Hamilton. It seems that biceps are a more formidable weapon than a knowledge of intricate terephorean tanglings.

George Kerler, late of the Kernel and but recently returned from the wilds of New Jersey, is making his residence in Frankfurt, where he connected with one Ralph Johnson in some shady proposition.

Mary Louise Naive and C. G. Depp are simmering in the sun of happiness, now that their pinning has attained the ripe old age of two weeks. Phil Angelucci and Jean Harrington are looking blissful because of co-educational reasons also. Perhaps the quietest couple on the campus, to be so steadfast, is that of Bob Rogan and Lib Butler.

Characteristic of the attitude that is taken by too many of our campus cuties was the sentiment so ably expressed recently by a certain Miss Leigh Brown, who, when asked whom she would take to the Sadie Hawkins dance, replied in arch tones that she intended to ask no-one. Now, Miss Brown is actively courted by at least two boys, and dated by many more. They pay, pay, and pay for her good times, but when the day of reciprocation arrives, Miss Brown, like most young ladies of the type, is too, too, much too much to ask any of them for a date. But there will come a day.

It would seem that gals of this type would welcome a chance to express a little appreciation for what the boys do for them. Or what they do to the boys for.

Mr. Robert Houlihan, local Lothario, and self-styled peevy of the Catholic Club, and Mr. Billy Spicer, Lexington top, were seen being exquisitely cute in the Cottage Saturday night.

A number of sororities on the campus are groaning over the fact that Mary Stucky has just been relieved of student-ship at Margaret Hall, a prep place for little girls. Miss S. was supposed to enter the UK next fall, and was being considered by the femme clans as sure prey. After seeing Miss Stucky, I concluded that she must have a lot of money. Ginger Watson, who has been seen about a lot with Charlie Kolb, is again on the auction block, having returned her Chio pledge badge.

Orel Ruth, new Tridelt kneeophyte, looks veddy distinctly hokay.

Miriam Guardhouse nearly caused a riot out at the Delt house dance the other night, with her imitation of a seal. "Wanna see me do a seal act?" said Guardhouse. "Okay buddy, throw me a fish." Dean Jones was not amused.

At the same dance, a certain little brunette, who is secretary to a downtown medic, caused quite a number of pulse-jumps among the Delt.

Mary Jane Kehoe, late freshman, and the main reason for the former glitter in Dick Swope's eye, done up and pulled a fasty on the Swope youngster. For days, Dick had been throwing out the chest over his success with the little gal, whom he considered all his own. Valentine Day saw candy and flowers reach her from the same Swope. He had a date with her the next night, but she called and said that she would just have to break it. In his gracious manner he understood and forgave; but understanding turned to terrible reality when, an hour later, he learned that she had just gone off and married the hometown sweetheart of another year. Dick sure put on the weep.

Unlike too many of the greek formal, the Tridelt formal was one of the best in many moons.

Steve White, legal white hope in the love-throwing meet, is now all afflutter about one Katie Richardson, a young lady of unusual talents and such, who is also a member of the torts and cases group. This same Miss Richardson, it will be remembered, made Phi Beta Kappa, a pin you get for studying, while she was an aris major. In addition, she is a gift for the eye, having quite some face value. After five straight dates with her, Steve is positively ecstatic.

Have you heard about Caroline Bean, who wandered into the Delta Zeta house by mistake, instead of the Tridelt coop?

A recent squabble was heard in the band circles recently, when some of the boys grew vexed over the practices which one Martha Jane Rich used in dealing out publicity, or failing to do so. The boys contended that Martha Jane had taken the honor of being elected band sponsor, one of the highest posts given a Kentucky student, too lightly. They said that she had refused to give interviews with the press, and that she had failed to see fit to pose for publicity pictures.

Having talked with the same M. J. Rich, it seems that she also has a story about the thing. She avers that she never refused an interview, and that the only time she ever turned down a photographer was one night when she had a date for seven, and the snapper asked her to pose at seven-thirty. You draw your own conclusions.

Dean Jones Leads Beta Club Induction

Dr. T. T. Jones, dean of men and member of the Harvard chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, presided and introduced speakers at the establishment ceremonies of a chapter of the National Honorary Beta Club at the Paris high school at 10 a. m. yesterday.

Miss Mary Eleanor Isgrig, Paris, graduate of the University and member of Phi Beta Kappa, spoke on the value of high school scholastic standings in higher education. A group of 17 seniors of Paris high school and 11 juniors were inducted into the new branch as charter members. The charter was delivered to the club by Prof. William F. Nash, head of the physics department of Georgetown college.

Alumni News--

McGavock, '24, Has Position At Elementary School In Michigan

The following letter of news to alumni has been received by Dean W. S. Taylor, 12, of the Education College:

"My work here (Handley School, Saginaw, Mich.), is pleasant and stimulating. I'm supervising principal of an elementary school which, in addition to normal children, has six groups of exception children—oral deaf, cardiac, cripple, and sight conservation. We definitely decided that elementary education is the field for me. I like it best of all. I took my master's degree at Columbia in elementary education.

"For eighteen months we've been engaged in curriculum rewriting and revision in Saginaw. I unreservedly recommend it as a great time consumer, though I do think it has benefited many of us a great deal. "I've been so far away from Lexington and home the past fifteen years that, regrettably, I've almost lost contact with the University and its fine people.

"May I wish you and your family a pleasant happy year."

Leonora McGavock, '24, Jefferson Apartments, Saginaw, Michigan.

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

IF I MAY be allowed to coin a phrase—most extraordinary, this Kentucky swimming team.

So far as having a swimming pool is concerned, according to prevalent rumors, Kentucky is as waterless as a hermit's sun-bath. Therefore, one would naturally suspect that a Kentucky swimming team would look about as formidable as Eliza crossing the ice. But not so and proven by the Wildcatfish record for the year.

To date (Monday morning) the amphibious Cats have started three meets and have, without being as yet extended, dunked Eastern Teachers college, Maryville and Tennessee in succession. Not being content to merely win these meets, the Blues have been as thorough in doing their baptizing as a Negro minister. The three meets represent a total of 26 events, of which Kentucky has won 21 and lost but 6 for a total of 157 points to 57 for the opposition. In all the starts Kentucky has scored over 50 points, taking Eastern by 52-13, Maryville 54-21 and Saturday afternoon erasing all trace of a disputed loss last year to Tennessee by thoroughly saturating the Vols under a 51-23 wave of firsts. The latter two wins represent the first two steps of a three-meet Southern tour. As this column is on its way off the press, the Cats are making their last start against Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

Gather And Hear

The tale of how the swimming team came into existence is a campus legend and should be familiar to even the most insignificant freshman. For those who possibly have never heard of the team's genesis—gather my children and you shall hear a thumb nail version.

Four years, it is now, that the tank-team idea sprouted from a dormitory bull session. Since a pool is of as much importance to a swimming team as his tongue is to an anteater, the first obstacle to be hurdled by team members was the procuring of a water hole for practice. Authorities at Eastern State Teachers college, 25 miles away, were contacted and graciously offered to lend their state-built pool as rehearsal water for the Wildcats. So on a bleak day four years ago, the first car loads of these swimming pioneers started a crusade to Richmond that is even today carried on.

Three state swim tourneys have come and gone since the first Kentucky team came into existence with the Cats winning all three of the meetings.

Pay Their Way

At first expense money for the trips came from the pockets of team members, then a chair for the sport was added to the Kentucky athletic table and the team was recognized as a full fledged minor sport. This year the new athletic department striving in every way to make for Kentucky a well rounded sports program, willled a sum of money to be used in helping the team pay its way.

Thursday night a yearly benefit basketball dispute, involving a hand picked team of faculty members and the coaching staff will be held in Alumni gym with the proceeds going to the swimming team and the "K" club, organization of varsity major lettermen. The admission will be 10 cents per head and, take my word for it, the game will afford more spills than an icy sidewalk.

Your Chance To Help
Sponsored by ODEK, this game offers you and me a chance to show our loyalty to a couple of organizations that are worthy of all we can do for them. And it isn't as though they were asking us to contribute our dimes and get nothing in return. As an added appetizer to the game, a bevy of football players, long favorites of stage (fright), scream Saturday afternoons, graceful as a horde of chained sloths, will render an original dance creation, "The Dance of the Seven Veils, or It's a Dead Ball That Doesn't Bounce."

The fun starts at 8 p. m., and you'll be as outmoded as the bustle if you stay home.

Complete Record

In answer to a request, the Kentucky basketball report card for the season shows 11 wins against 4 losses. The 15 games show Kentucky outscoring the opposition 626 points to 494. The Southeastern Conference standing is at 4 wins and 2 losses with two more games, both at home on this year's card. Xavier tonight and Vanderbilt Saturday.

The complete record: Kentucky 40, Georgetown, 19; Kentucky 57, Kentucky Wesleyan, 18; Kentucky 44, Cincinnati, 27; Kentucky, 67, Washington and Lee, 47; Kentucky, 34, Long Island, 52; Kentucky, 41, St. Joseph's 30; Kentucky, 37, Notre Dame, 42; Kentucky, 29, Tennessee, 30; Kentucky, 38, Alabama, 41; Kentucky, 51, Vanderbilt, 37; Kentucky, 37, Marquette, 31; Kentucky, 41, Xavier, 31; Kentucky, 45, Alabama, 27; Kentucky, 38; Mississippi State, 28, and Kentucky, 36, Tennessee, 34. P. S.

Incidentally, did you notice that Vanderbilt trimmed Western by 53-49 Friday night and that Marquette trimmed Notre Dame Saturday night by 47-22.

Conference Topics Featured In Exhibit

Material Displayed In Library Deals With Branches Of Religion-In-Life

In connection with the present meeting of the Religion-In-Life conference the University library has on display in the main foyer many books and pamphlets pertaining to subjects which will be discussed in lectures, forums, and seminars. This exhibition is arranged in the form of four main topics, history of religion, religion and science, philosophy and religion, and religious and social problems. The two wall cases behind each floor case contain material on topics closely related to the important feature.

Prof. E. W. Rannels of the art department cooperated in arranging the exhibit by lending 18 reproductions of famous religious paintings. The books used in this exhibit are either from the shelves of the library or from Dr. Warner Hall of the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church, Dr. Robert Miles of the First Presbyterian church, and Rabbi Milton Graftman. Pamphlets are from the library of the YM and YW. Pictures of the speakers and the program of the conference are also to be found in the cases.

These displays will remain in the cases for the duration of the conference. Any comment on them will be appreciated by the librarians.

BILL WALL WINS IN BILLIARD TOURNEY

The first pocket billiard tournament ever held at the University, sponsored by the athletic department and the Student Union, was concluded with Bill Wall, Arts and Sciences senior from Harlan, being crowned champion.

Runner-up honors in the eliminations, that attracted a starting field of 50, went to Houston Curtis. Both finalists will receive trophies and Wall will be given a cue stick presented to the tourney winner by Charles Peterson, world's champion trick-shot artist who made a recent exhibition here. All the matches were held in the Union billiard room.

Due to the increased interest being shown in billiards and pocket billiards the tournament will become an annual event. The sport will also be included on next year's intramural program and points will be given for team and individual placings. A team of seven members has also been selected to represent Kentucky in the National inter-collegiate Pocket Billiard Championships to be held March 9.

WILDCATS

center and Donovan and Weller at the guard posts.

Since brotherly love in any Kentucky-Xavier contest is as scarce as tiaras at a fish fry, tonight's brawl is expected to be rougher than a cargo of sand-paper.

Revenge On Vols
Coach Adolph Rupp will probably start the same Kentucky team that nipped Tennessee by 36-34 Saturday night in a game that for the regulation playing time and two extra periods was closer than Siamese shadows. A looping field goal from the foul line by Keith Farnsley midway of the second overtime stanza provided the margin of victory for the Cats.

Kentucky started the game fast and at half time held a 19-15 advantage. The Vols opened a strong second-half offense and forged into a 23-21 lead with 8 minutes remaining in the game. With 4 minutes to play Tennessee was on top by 29-26 when Kentucky opened a rally that pushed the Cats into a 32-29 lead. As the game ended the Vols tied the score tighter than a hangman's noose with a field goal and a foul shot.

In the first overtime Curtis and Oppert hit fouls for Kentucky but Logan burned the cord with a field goal from far out. Then in the second extra period Farnsley hit his climactic field goal.

Oppert Leads Scorers
Captain Bernie Oppert, continuing his fine play, led the Kentucky scoring parade with 11 points. Farnsley and Thompson, with 10 and 9 points, respectively, were next high for the Cats. Thomas, with 12 points, led the Tennessee scorers, followed by Huffman with 8. The win for Kentucky avenged an earlier 30-29 defeat from the Vols in Lexington.

Tonight's probable starting line-ups:
Kentucky: Curtis, Oppert, Farnsley, Thompson, Clugish, Oppert, Rouse or Huber.
Xavier: Neary, Carroll, Howie, Donovan, Weller.

DAVENPORT WILL SPEAK

Miss Iris Davenport of the home economics department will speak on "Grooming for Business" before the YWCA at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday.

SOUTHERN SWIMMING BRINGS EASY WINS TO DRY-LAND TEAM

In the first two steps of a three-meet Southern tour, Kentucky's "dry-land" swimming team rolled over Maryville by a margin of 54-21, Friday night and Saturday afternoon dunked Tennessee, 51-23.

Both starts found Kentucky placing winners in seven of the nine events on the program. Against Maryville the Cats lost only the 200-yard free style and 400 yard free style, while Tennessee placed winners in the 150 yard backstroke and 400 yard free style. The wins ran Kentucky's record for the year to three triumphs in as many starts.

The Maryville meet found the Cat 150 yard medley relay team covering the distance in 1:33.5 to open the meet with a Kentucky first. After dropping the 200 yard free style, Roberts and Ramsey, in that order, swept the 50 yard free style. Curtis and Stephenson finished one, two in the diving contest. Ramsey took the 100 yard free style in 59.8 and Scott, followed by Captain Herb Hillenmeyer, swept the 100 yard back stroke points for Kentucky. The 100 yard breaststroke points were taken by Hinklebein and Riddell. The meet concluded with Kentucky's 200-yard relay team stroking to first honors.

The 51-23 drubbing of Tennessee marked the first loss in four starts for the Volunteers. In three events Kentucky placed men first and second with Roberts and Ramsey broke first in the diving contest. Ramsey took top honors in the diving exhibition in that order. In the 100 yard free style Frank Roberts broke first tape in the fast time of 57.6.

Eddie David took the 200 yard free style in a clocking of 2:29.4 after the 300 yard medley relay team had opened the meet with a Kentucky first. Jones of Tennessee took the 150 yard backstroke in 1:56.6 that bordered on a new conference record. Scott and Hillenmeyer finished second and third. The 200 yard breaststroke was taken by Sherman Hinklebein and the 400 yard relay team finished the meet with a final first.

Election Conducted By Phi Mu Alpha

Officers of Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary musical fraternity for men, were elected on February 16 in the Art Center. Officers chosen were Thomas Haynes, president; Donald Allton, instructor in the music department, supreme councilman; Mark Cochran, vice president; Herman Kendall, secretary-treasurer; Charles Garland, historian; and C. P. Johnson, Jr., ward.

Faculty members of the organization include Prof. Carl A. Lamport, John Lewis, band director, John S. Richardson, Alexander Capurso, and Dr. Willem van de Wall. The local chapter Alpha Gamma was reestablished on the campus with initiation ceremonies for 12 new members two weeks ago at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Five Appeal Cases Will Be Presented By Law Collegians

Second-year men in the College of Law will present their first set of appeal cases starting at 3 p. m., Friday, in the auditorium of Lafferty Hall.

The eight men thought best in these arguments will be chosen to act as attorneys in another case in their senior year. From these eight, four will be picked to argue a case before the Court of Appeals at Frankfort in March.

The first case on the docket for Friday will be that of Runner vs. Smith et al, with Bryson and Shouse attorneys for the appellant and Beck and Stephens for the appellee. Immediately following this case Stephenson and Turner for the appellant and Gilliland and Henard for the appellee will argue the appeal case of Weller's Admiralty vs. Southern Railroad Co.

Beginning at 4:10 p. m. McCartney and Vogele will appeal the case of Central Grain Co. vs. Acme Grain Co. Runyan and Tinher will be the attorneys for the appellee. At the conclusion of this case the court will recess until 7 p. m., when Hibbitts and Winner for the appellant and Crocks and Hennessey for the appellee will argue the case of Davis et al vs. the Home Life Insurance Co.

The final trial will be the case of the L. & N. Railroad vs. Peabody, Lambert and Rogers will act for the appellant while Ewing and Hamlett will be the attorneys for the appellee.

Brauer Will Speak To Scientific Group

Dr. Alfred Brauer, professor in the department of zoology will be the principal speaker at the fourth monthly meeting of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity in the fields of pure and applied sciences, at 7 p. m., Friday, February 24, in the lecture room, Pence hall.

Dr. Brauer will speak on "An Analysis of Pattern Development in the Insect's Eye Through Its Experimental Modification at Different Stages." In an explanation of the abstract Dr. Brauer says, "The significant feature of early pattern determination in the insect is the relative unimportance of the head and the presumptive head-forming region. Instead, the prothoracic region is the physiologically dominant, integrating center. Its suppression by mechanical or by chemical means leads to the development of monsters and twins."

Engineering School To Hold Conference Of Lighting Experts

In cooperation with the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Ohio Valley division of the Illuminating Engineering Society will hold an all day extension meeting Friday, February 24 in the Engineering College.

Delegates to the conference will register at 9 a. m. Friday in Mechanical hall. Lexington electrical contractors, Kentucky utility and Tennessee utility men will be invited to attend the sessions.

J. M. Ketch of the General Electric company will speak on "Illumination and Its Future," at a general assembly at 10 a. m. in Memorial hall. At the afternoon session devoted to technical engineering, Mr. Ketch will discuss "Technical Aspects of Illumination." The meeting will be held from 2 to 4 in Room 205, Mechanical hall.

A luncheon for the delegates will be held at 12 noon in the Union building. D. C. Schafer, senior in the College of Engineering, is chairman of the A. I. E. E.

The conference will close with a banquet at 6 p. m. in the Union building when Mr. Ketch will talk on "The Modern Trend of Lighting."

Dean J. H. Graham of the Engineering College said yesterday that the entire Engineering college would take part in the conference and that some classes would be dismissed for the meetings. All sessions of the conference will be open to the public, Dean Graham added.
